

Mr. Shane McEntee TD, Minister of State at the Department of Agriculture, Food and the Marine, together with Ms Michelle O'Neill MLA, Minister for Agriculture and Rural Development, Northern Ireland, formally launched the Future Trees Trust which is now a registered charity in both the UK and Ireland. The Trust incorporates the work of the British and Irish Hardwoods Improvement Programme, which has been active for several years in selecting the best broadleaf trees to provide the next generation of forests. It has over the years brought together many of Britain and Ireland's foremost experts in broadleaf tree improvement as well as practitioners from the forest sector.

John Fennessy (FTT) with Minister McEntee and Minister O'Neill planting tree